Henry Rhines, of Chicago, the Winner of the Champion Cup.

An Acquisition to the White Stocking Nine.

The conclusion of the sparring games Horn-swoggled yesterday afternoon and evening. The two contests of evening interest to the city that had before been manifested. The audience in the afternoon was not large, especially during the first game, but in the evening the parlors of the Academy of Music were packed to the utmost, and those who were unfortunate enough to attempt a longer session, and even a few inches, found themselves in the position of the unfortunate clambering with a view of seeing the performances in the parlors of the saloons given by the Sheridan Club.

After the preliminaries, the new champion, who has come to be by his brilliant and steady play the left-handed Cuthbert, Caleb Rose, came to the front with a vengeance, and by the end of the first inning had scored 100 points, and would have won the game at that point had not Mr. Hackett, who was to referee the game, been absent. Mr. Hackett arrived at 10:30, and the Canadian was declared the winner of the game, the score of which stood as follows:
